I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

Superintendent.

(b) The Superintendent shall not detain the appeal of any convict even though it be apparently barred by limitation.

(491)—If a convict without friends, relatives or counsel to act for him elects to appeal, the Superintendent shall apply to the court concerned, for a copy of the judgment or order, appealed against.

(492)—When the copy of the judgment has been received, the date of its receipt shall be noted thereon, and the convict shall, if he is able to write, write his own petition of appeal; if not, the Superintendent shall cause his petition to be written by a jail officer and the convict's case shall, as far as possible, be recorded in his own words.

One or more sentries as required will be on duty throughout the day. Throughout the night the whole guard shall be present inside the jail. Each warder of the guard will be permitted the use of his own bedding and a charpoy when off duty during the night. The charpoys shall be removed during the day.

The key of the cell in which a condemned convict is confined shall be kept by the head warder on duty and the duplicate shall be stored in the key chest at the main gate. The head warder shall, in case of emergency such as an attempt to commit suicide enter the cell and take necessary action.

The door of the cell in which a condemned convict is confined shall not ordinarily be opened unless the convict has been first handcuffed. This precaution need not be taken if three warders and a superior officer are present.

A condemned convict may be permitted to occupy the verandah in front of his cell for half an hour morning and evening but only one such convict at a time shall be allowed to do so. During this time handcuffs should be applied and remain on the convict which is obtained by adding together the totals of columns 4 and 5, and represents with sufficient accuracy the number of different birth lands who have been in prison during the month.

16. "1" with missing values is the sum of column 6, plus 7, and necessarily includes many who are counted more than once (that is, multiple entries). Column 2 is obtained by adding together the number presented on each day of the month, while 1 is the number of days in the month.

When a person enters the jail for another on their way to undergo transportation beyond seas, they should be entered by the jail in column 6, and by the jail which received them they should be entered in column 7. B When prisoners sentenced to life are not sent away and discharged from any jail, so that they will leave the Province without passing through any other jail, they will be entered in column 11.

Transportation will be only to those prisoners sent beyond seas. Transportation to a Central Prison is regarded as extra-murally under the orders of Government No 1632-13, dated 28th October 1893, they should be considered as of the place where they are employed, should be entered in returns of the same of the jail, that is, of the place where they are employed, should be entered in returns of the same of the jail.
